Dear Sir/Madam,

I am writing on behalf of both of us in connection with the recent installation of Solar Panels to our property.

I would like to firstly state that we have as yet not received any return for our input to the National Grid but expect a rewarding return on our investment in due course. The information provided by the firms representative was very self explanatory and presented in a very informal and friendly manner which came across very well.

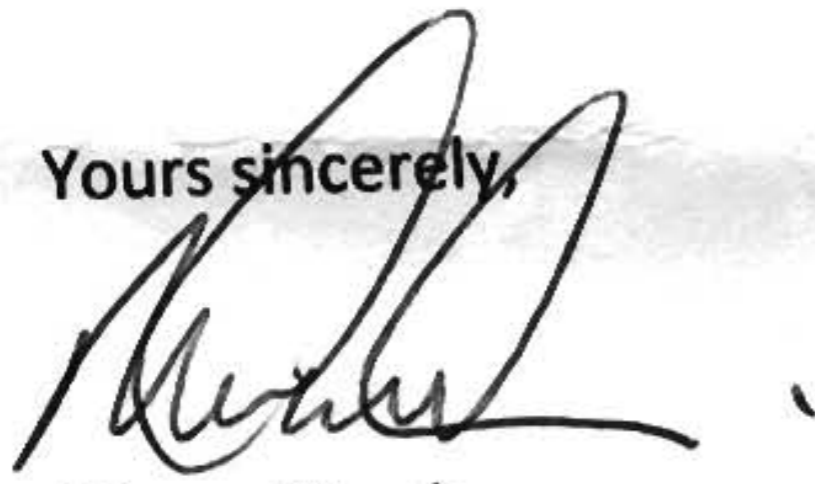

The surveyor was on time and took all the pertinent details of our property in short order. He then informed us that there could be a period of 6 weeks or so before installation. This in fact was not the case as the team to install were arriving, by appointment, within 2 weeks.

The electrician arrived early and completed his work very quickly and with a minimum of upheaval to us. Once done he explained the workings of the system and helped with the forms required to complete matters.

The actual installation of the panels was completed by a very friendly pair who did the job in very short order and once again with a minimum of fuss. No mess was left and they departed during the afternoon.

There have been no complaints and we would recommend the firm to our friends - in fact we already have a referral in the pipeline with more to follow.

Yours sincerely,

#Barry Marsh.
